

Bryan S. Lee, MD, JD specializes in cataract, cornea, and refractive surgery at Altos Eye Physicians in Los Altos, California. He graduated magna cum laude from Harvard College and cum laude from Harvard Law School. He attended medical school at Washington University in St. Louis on a full merit scholarship and graduated AOA.

He completed his ophthalmology residency at the Wilmer Eye Institute of Johns Hopkins and his fellowship at Minnesota Eye Consultants. He then joined the faculty of the University of Washington in Seattle before moving to California.

Dr. Lee was named one of the “Top 50 rising stars in ophthalmology” in 2017 and a member of the “Top 40 under 40” in ophthalmology in 2015. He also was designated an Ocular Surgery News Premier Surgeon 300 innovator in refractive cataract surgery in 2016.

He serves on the Council of the American Academy of Ophthalmology as well as the Online Education Committee, ONE Refractive Management Committee, and Refractive Surgery Basic and Clinical Science Course committee. He is also a member of the American Society of Cataract and Refractive Surgery Phaco Fundamentals Classroom Editorial Board. Dr. Lee served on the Washington and Maryland state society executive boards and as Secretary of the Vanguard Ophthalmology Society. He is also an Adjunct Clinical Assistant Professor of Ophthalmology at Stanford.