

Caitlin is currently a fifth year resident in Otolaryngology/Head and Neck Surgery at the University of Southern California. She completed medical school at the University of Southern California and undergraduate at Columbia University in the City of New York. In July of 2019 she will begin fellowship in laryngology at the Oregon Health Sciences University.