

Jack Shohet, M.D.

Dr. Jack Shohet received his bachelor's and medical degree from the University of Cincinnati. He completed his internship and residency in Otolaryngology-Head and Neck surgery at Vanderbilt University in Nashville, Tennessee, where he subsequently completed a fellowship in otology/neurotology at the Ear Foundation in Nashville.

Board certified in both otolaryngology and neurotology, Dr. Shohet has contributed to the implementation and development of implantable middle ear hearing devices and continues to offer new treatments for hearing disorders and related problems. He is in private practice with offices in Newport Beach and Seal Beach where he specializes in disorders of the ear.

In addition to his private practice, Dr. Shohet is engaged in medical research and is a Clinical Professor (Volunteer) at the University of California, Irvine, where he previously served as Chief of the Division of Neurotology and Residency Program Director. Dr. Shohet is a member of numerous professional organizations, including the California Medical Association, Orange County Medical Association, American Academy of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery, American Neurotology Society, American Otologic Society and is currently President of the Orange County Society of Otolaryngology and Head and Neck Surgery. Dr. Shohet lectures frequently to professional and community groups throughout Southern California, and has been named to Best Doctors in America from 2005-present. He previously served as Chairman of the Otolaryngology Department at Hoag Hospital in Newport Beach and is currently chairman of the board and co-founder of HearAid Foundation, a regional non-profit seeking to provide hearing instruments to the underprivileged.