

Marshall Smith, MD

Dr. Marshall Smith is a professor of Otolaryngology-Head and Neck Surgery at the University of Utah. In practice for over 25 years, his clinical and research interests focus on pediatric otolaryngology and adult laryngology. He is the medical director of the University of Utah Voice Disorders Center, and co-director of the Utah Airway Disorders Center. He also participates in Aerodigestive and Esophageal-Airway Teams at Primary Children's Hospital. He completed his residency in Otolaryngology/Head and Neck Surgery at UCLA and a fellowship in Pediatric Otolaryngology at the University of Cincinnati. He is a fellow of the American Laryngological Association and the Triological Society, and is an NIH funded investigator collaborating on research of various voice and airway disorders.