

Lauren Timmons Sund, MS CCC-SLP is a speech-language pathologist at the USC Voice Center, Caruso Department of Otolaryngology – Head and Neck Surgery at the University of Southern California. She specializes in the treatment of voice and upper airway disorders. Lauren has lectured on the evaluation and treatment of these disorders and presented clinical research at regional and national conferences. In addition to extensive training in the behavioral treatment of voice and upper airway disorders, she holds a Bachelor of Music in voice performance and has worked with many singers, actors, voice artists, and other professional voice users.