

David B Samimi, Bio

Dr. David B. Samimi earned his M.D. degree from the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA and then completed his ophthalmology residency at the #1 rated University of Miami Bascom Palmer Eye Institute. Dr. Samimi continued an additional two years of training in oculofacial plastic surgery at Eyestetica, one of the few prestigious American Society of Ophthalmic Plastic & Reconstructive Surgery (ASOPRS) sponsored fellowships.

Dr. Samimi currently teaches oculofacial plastic surgery as an associate professor at the Keck School of Medicine at USC. He is also an associate preceptor for the ASOPRS sponsored fellowship in oculofacial and cosmetic surgery at Eyestetica, offering consultation in Santa Monica, Encino and Downtown Los Angeles. Dr. Samimi has received many honors including the ASOPRS Research Award, the Dean Mellinkoff Scholarship, the 2011 Bascom Palmer Oculoplastics Award, and 1st place research award at the Florida Society of Ophthalmology Research Symposium. He regularly lectures at national conferences, publishes in peer reviewed medical journals and has authored several book chapters.

Dr. Samimi is a Southern California native and currently lives in Westwood, California. He enjoys international travel and outdoor exercise. He is fluent in Spanish and Farsi.

